

SIoux SURVEY

The Forum posted a survey online this past week asking readers for their thoughts on the handling of the Fighting Sioux nickname by state leaders. About 3,100 people responded. Here are the results:

Was it appropriate for the state of North Dakota and Rep. Al Carlson to pursue a bill to retain control of the Fighting Sioux nickname?

Should state leaders have pursued the Aug. 12 meeting with the NCAA?

Do you think Rep. Al Carlson handled the issue appropriately?

Do you think Carlson is an effective leader for North Dakota?

Do you think Gov. Jack Dalrymple handled the issue appropriately?

Do you think Dalrymple is an effective leader for North Dakota?

Going forward, what should North Dakota do about the UND nickname?
